Katherine,
It's been great knowing you again this year at dear old RGR. Thanks for the previews of what you did in Mrs.
Garrison's class. You're a really nice and lovable girl. Have a great summer and
be nice.

Katherine, been History has been great this year.
 we exchanged notes
 often enough! Had a great time in library
 too. see you next year
 have a great summer.
 Brona Pinnolis

Katherine,
 What a switch - from Mr. Doepner to Mrs. Raulerson; from picky facts to the human side of history; from short term papers to one twice the size. I believe we have lived through the transition. It looks like next year there will be an even larger transition to make. Well, have a nice summer and I'll see you next year.

Katherine,
 For some reason
 I have been wanting to call you Kathy all year. But you all ways corrected me on that matter. Have a great summer & see you next year.

Too bad we didn't have any classes together - at least we got big homeroom! Remember Mrs. Rollins with her big mouth & belly to match - Be good & I'll see ya around - Martha in growing, we have learned to search to discover with heightened sensitivity the familiar, as well as the unknown. we have come to understand that communication with other people is the hardest endeavor to undertake and yet the most satisfying. We have perceived through our senses—listening, touching, seeing, smelling, tasting—that we are an integral part of the world about us. we have learned to live according to our

Dedication

Warmth, understanding, and a deep sensitivity for her students are only a few of the qualities which have earned for Mrs. Mary Compton a special place in many of our hearts. Serving as Junior Class Sponsor, she shared the students' ideas and gained a deeper insight into their personalities. By adding a degree of humor to her mathematical equations, she maintained student interest. Former students never forget her, and are always writing to share their college experiences. To a teacher and friend who will long be remembered, we the senior Class, dedicate the 1971 Black and Gold . . . Mrs. Mary Compton.

Katherine Elizabeth,

I used to think all teacher's kids were dull, square people - Boy, was I wrong!

Library clubbing this year was out of this world. Raleigh will never be the same.

In later years look back on all the fabulous experiences that came our way this year - we have learned of the tangibility of the world and people about us by experiencing warmth and coldness, by touching shapes and textures, by feeling the vibrance of life. we have walked and run and felt the sensations of our movements in our feet and arms and legs, and felt a unity with the earth. by touching, we have added jubilation to our perceptions...

Each of us tried to touch our neighbor's heart and mind through sympathy and understanding. We shared our ideas and worked harmoniously toward a common goal—that of better understanding our own place in life.

Through involvement in various organizations, we were able to serve the school which gave us so much and to know the true sense of brotherhood. Readily we responded to the needs of others and received a deeper perception through student involvement.

Elected leaders set example for others

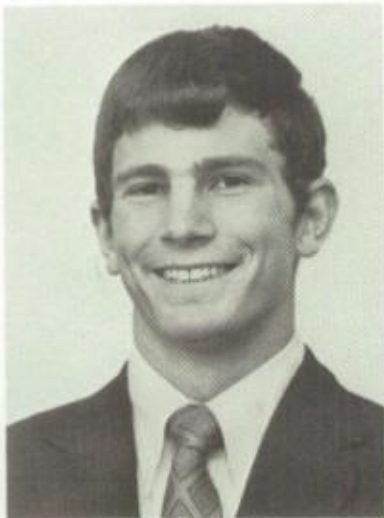

Acting as the voice of the students, Student Council has furthered better relationships between faculty and students. New interest has been awakened for the problem student with the formation of the Human Relations Committee. Students were given chances to express their ideas in The Forum, a newspaper created by Student Council. Honor code violations were handled by the Student Council Honor Court. Due to Student Council action, slacks for girls were permitted.

House Court keeps order

With four officers and four representatives the house court helps to enforce the longstanding rules and code of honor at Reynolds. Any offender is notified and given a certain time to appear before the house court. After a discussion of the offense, proper discipline is administered. It is believed that high school students should maintain the responsibility for their own conduct and the conduct of others.

Representatives catch abusers of the Honor Code.

Trials determine severity of violations.

Senior class guided by committees

One representative from each senior homeroom and senior class officers make up the senior executive committee. The committee's function at Reynolds is to settle the business of the senior class; making some decisions, but calling on the senior class as a whole. Sponsored by Mrs. Steelman, the committee selects the class mascot and dedicates the annual.

Working with Mrs. Moser and Miss Edwards, the class day committee, which is nominated by the senior executive committee plans and produces the Class day program.

Thespians create plays

Placing emphasis on the theatrical arts, the International Thespian Society is an association promoting interest in dramatics in secondary schools through its student members. Students are selected on the basis of their outstanding creativity, productivity and ability in dramatics.

Thespians Left to Right: Cole Campbell, Bonnie Shaw, John Banks

Journalists meet high requirements

Holding yearly inductions, the Quill and Scroll, one of the oldest honor societies at Reynolds, is a national organization for juniors and seniors who excel in journalism, and who meet academic requirements similar to the NHS.

Members have the responsibility for aiding in the production and distribution of school publications, Pine Whispers and the Black and Gold. This work requires an ability for effective writing, organization, diligence, and congeniality.

Outstanding debaters form Society

Masque and Gavel is a national society for outstanding work in public speaking and dramatics. To be recognized in these areas, a student must make very high grades and be a good citizen of the school. Members meet three times a year in order to elect officers, plan induction of new members, and carry out the induction ceremony. All names of new members are sent to Northwestern University, the headquarters for the Masque and Gavel.

Skilled speakers embody League

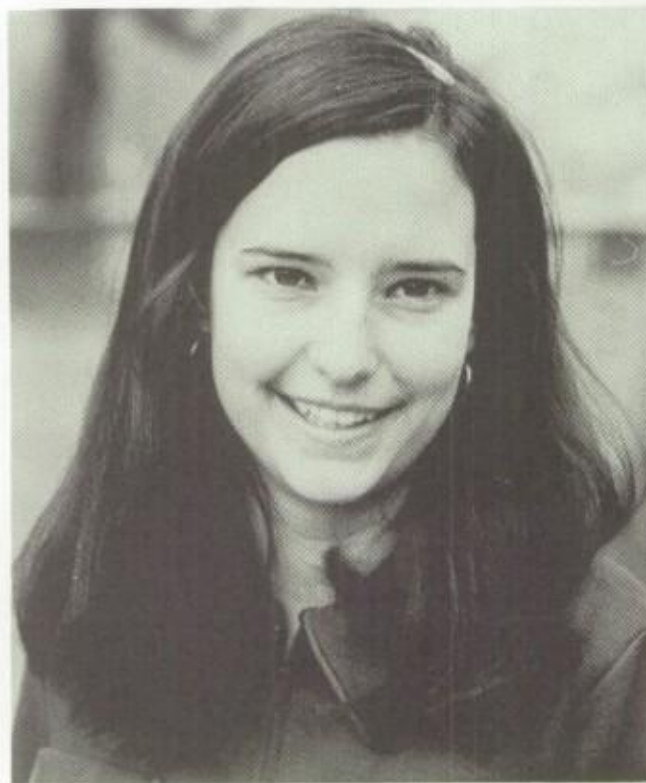

A national organization for debaters and speakers, the National Forensic League requires members to have earned 25 points awarded for their presentation and wins. Having secured a charter membership from Ripon College this year, the students received training for leadership in debating, parliamentary law, and student congress. Many senators, congressmen, and prominent lawyers are former members of the League.

Senior girls give final aid to Reynolds

Participating in both community and school affairs, the Senior Girls Service Club offered interested junior and senior girls the chance to serve Reynolds and its students. Working with Miss Tomlinson, who sponsored the Senior Girls Service Club, the girls accomplished several service projects involving fellow students and persons not connected directly with Reynolds. Activities included the sponsoring of school socials such as parties and dances, and promoting a festive spirit before the holidays for the student body.

Funds raised by bake sale

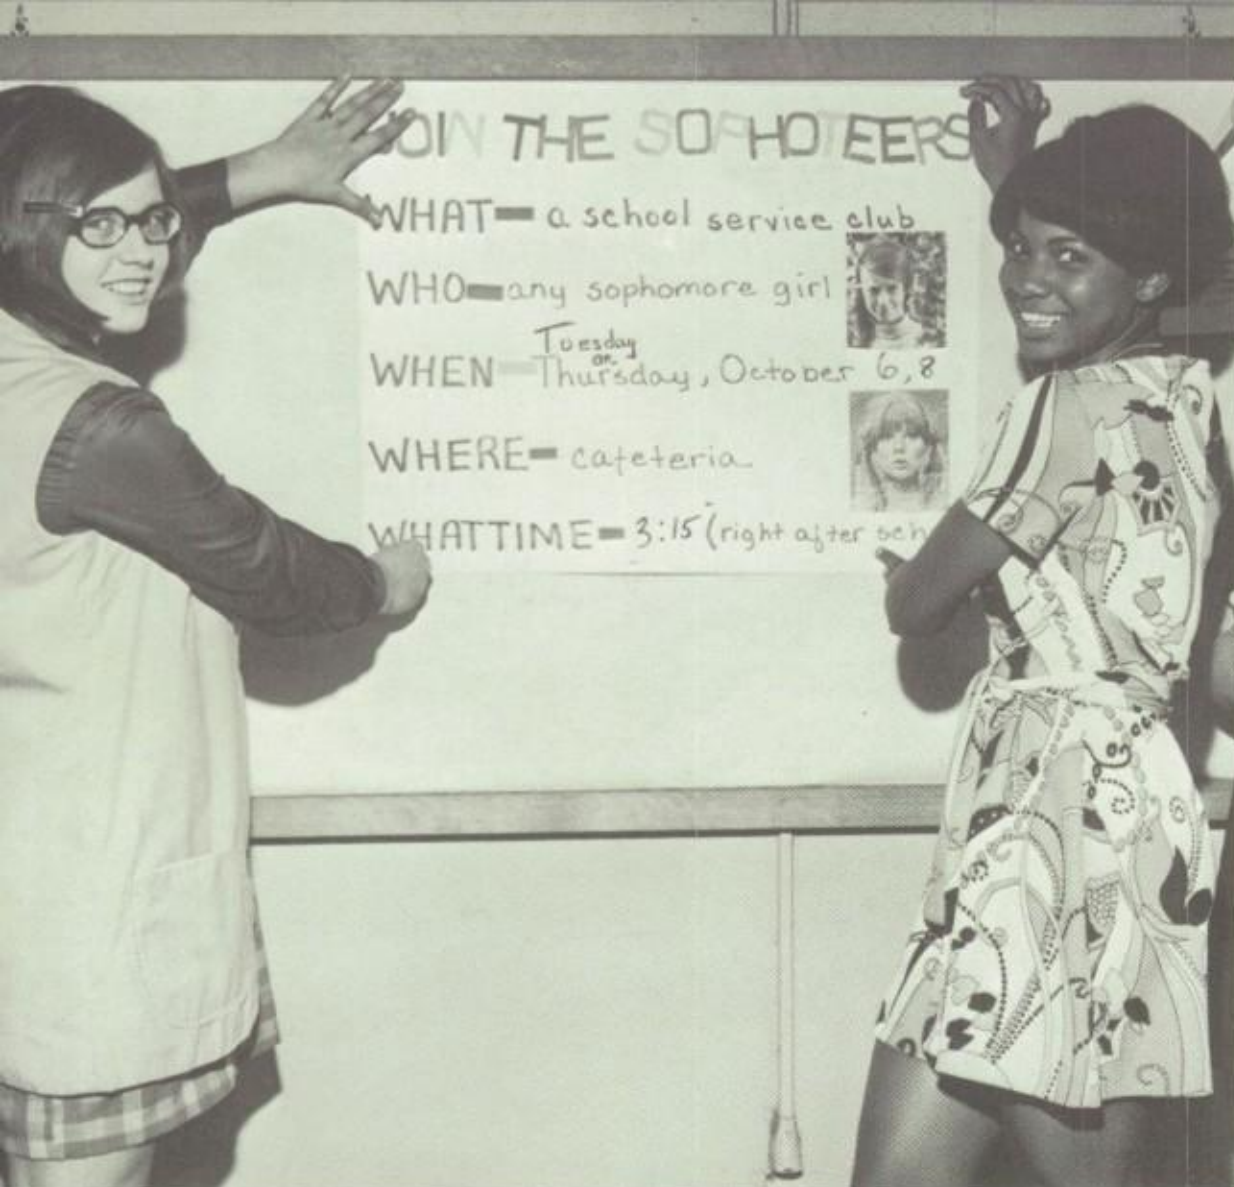

Approximately fifty junior girls made up the Serviteers Service Club this year. Sponsored by Mrs. Venable, the Serviteers tackled many school projects such as helping teachers after school, serving at banquets, and polishing the trophies in the trophy case.

Helping the needy was another concern of the Serviteers, and the club collected food for the Thanksgiving food drive.

Girls enjoy school life through service.

Volunteers keep peace and order in library

Scouring around, shelving, mending, labeling, and the near impossible job of keeping the library running are the numerous library pages, assisting Mrs. Sink and Mrs. Baron. The Library Club is a member of the North Carolina High School Association and the sponsor is Mrs. Sink. Fifty members strong, the busy club does many services for the school and community, such as: sponsoring a book drive for the needy children at Christmas, having a Christmas party, Spring Tea for teachers, and the annual conventions and picnics.

Hall Monitors check echoes

Many students gave up their study halls this year to help enforce the House Court rule on hall passes. These patrolmen of the halls, although they have a seemingly monotonous task, offered their varied and helpful services to Reynolds. They check the passes of all people in the halls and act as guides to visitors in our buildings.

Confident girls take the wheel

Transporting Reynolds students to and from school, the bus drivers perform the weekly tasks of delivering three or four loads of students each morning to school on time. Because the drivers are directly responsible for maintenance and condition of the vehicles, they take an extensive training course in the process of obtaining their bus license.

Literature and poetry are the subjects of conversation at Scribblers' Club meetings. Sponsored by Mrs. Whalen, the club compiles original prose, poetry, short stories, and drawings by Reynolds' Students, into a literary magazine, "The Scribbler."

In debates from Houston to Boston, the Debate Club has had an unusually good year with the subject of pollution. Employing the highest form of debate in the U. S., the members must argue both sides of a question.

J.A. introduces business tactics

Distributive Education classes at Reynolds provide students with supervised on-the-job training for the students to receive school credit and earn at the same time. It is to develop good work habits in school and business supervision and to assume responsibilities required in business.

Students doing this are members of the D. E. C. A. club sponsored by Mr.

Sawyer.

When groups of twenty students from every school in the system are organized into small, profit making organizations, cooperation and a more complete business knowledge emerge from the chaos.

Every year, many Reynolds students join Junior Achievement corporations, sponsored by the large companies in the city.

Band helps to rouse the cheering section

Directed by Mr. Smith, the 86 member Marching Band fulfilled its many duties through diligent practice.

Their playing for pep rallies and games boosted school spirit throughout the year. Real talent was proven when the Reynolds band won second place and $100 in a contest at Wake Forest sponsored by WAIR Radio Station.

Traveling played a big part in the Band's agenda. Trips included a Tennessee excursion to compete in the Dogwood Arts Festival, traveling to Greensboro for competition in the State Band Contest and marching in the Christmas Parade and in Thomasville.

Sponsoring the annual Christmas Dance brought funds for new chimes and basses.

Boots steal

Promoting service to the school, the Boots worked continually this year performing at numerous functions such as football games, the basketball homecoming game, the Winston-Salem Christmas Parade and the Thomasville Christmas Parade, Wake Forest Basketball game, and Key Club Follies. They also performed for Band Day at Wake Forest. As contestants of the WAIR Band Contest, the Boots won second place.

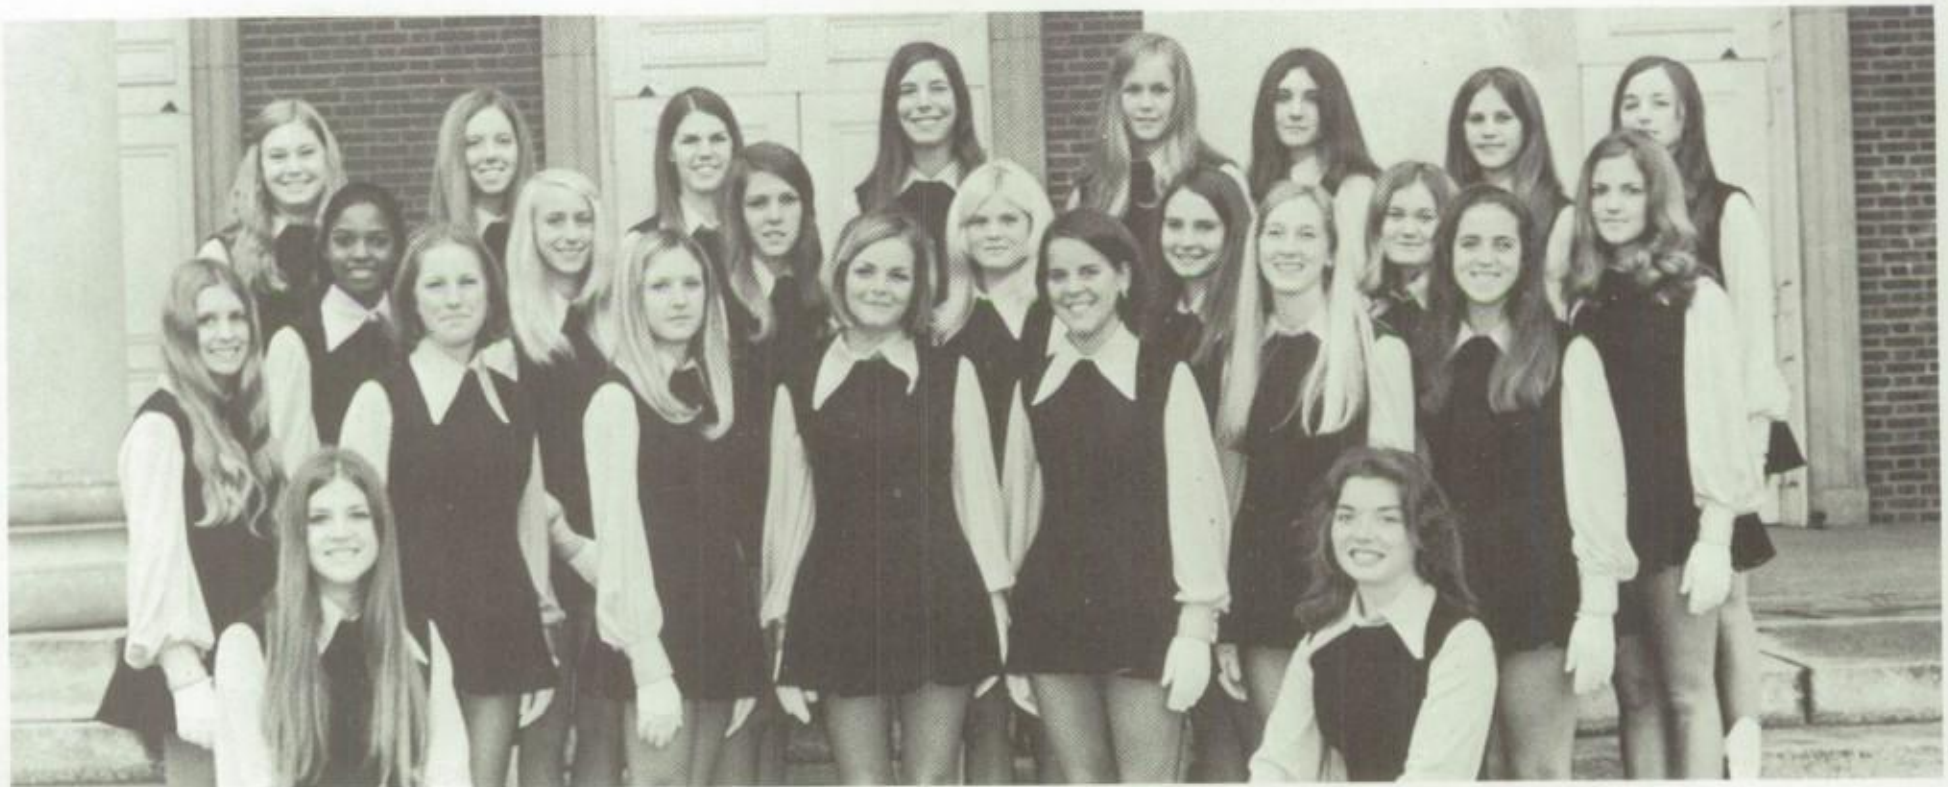

Advising the Dancing Boots was Miss Carter, who planned the sponsoring of the Band Dance.

Spectacular routines reveal poise

Mary Schultz, Choreographer

Susan Hill, Chief

Practicing hard every morning for one to two hours since the first of July, the Majorettes have done well. In August the practices increased to one at night, plus the regular morning practice until school started. Much stress was put on twirls and marching

Before each game the girls took turns having dinner for the other members at their homes. With the game immediately after dinner there is much hustling and bustling to change from their Majorette uniforms to the Boot uniforms and then back to Majorette uniforms, for the conclusion of the game.

Guard leads — Connie Cobb performs alone

Preceding the band and majorettes onto the field during pre-game and halftime shows, the Color guard won a permanent place in the hearts of Reynolds' students and teachers. The color guard displays the flags of the United States, North Carolina, Reynolds High School and the Band Flag. Color guard Tryouts are held in the spring, and the final selection is made by Mr. Smith.

As solo-twirler this year, Connie Cobb performed her twirling with skill and ease. Routines were excellent examples of her unique talent.

Girls cheer— team meets VICTORY

With spirits high and voices strong, the varsity cheerleading squad's main function at Reynolds is promoting school spirit. Sponsored this year by Miss Binkley and led by Chief Rita Nichols, the squad, selected by a committee of faculty and students, consists of ten seniors and five juniors. With enthusiasm and diligence, the varsity cheerleaders promote a spirit of unity among students and faculty at exhilarating pep rallies. These pep rallies provide the team and fans with a pre-game boost of spirit.

Crisp fall nights in Bowman Gray Stadium, Friday nights in the gym, and sunny afternoons on the field—all of these bring memories of the many times we gathered to support our RJR teams. As kick-off approached, expressions of pride and determination swept over each face in the crowd, and the National Anthem faded into an uproar of cheers. Although we sometimes met a defeat, the perception of good sportsmanship was greatly understood through athletics.

RJR co-champion in Group II Conference

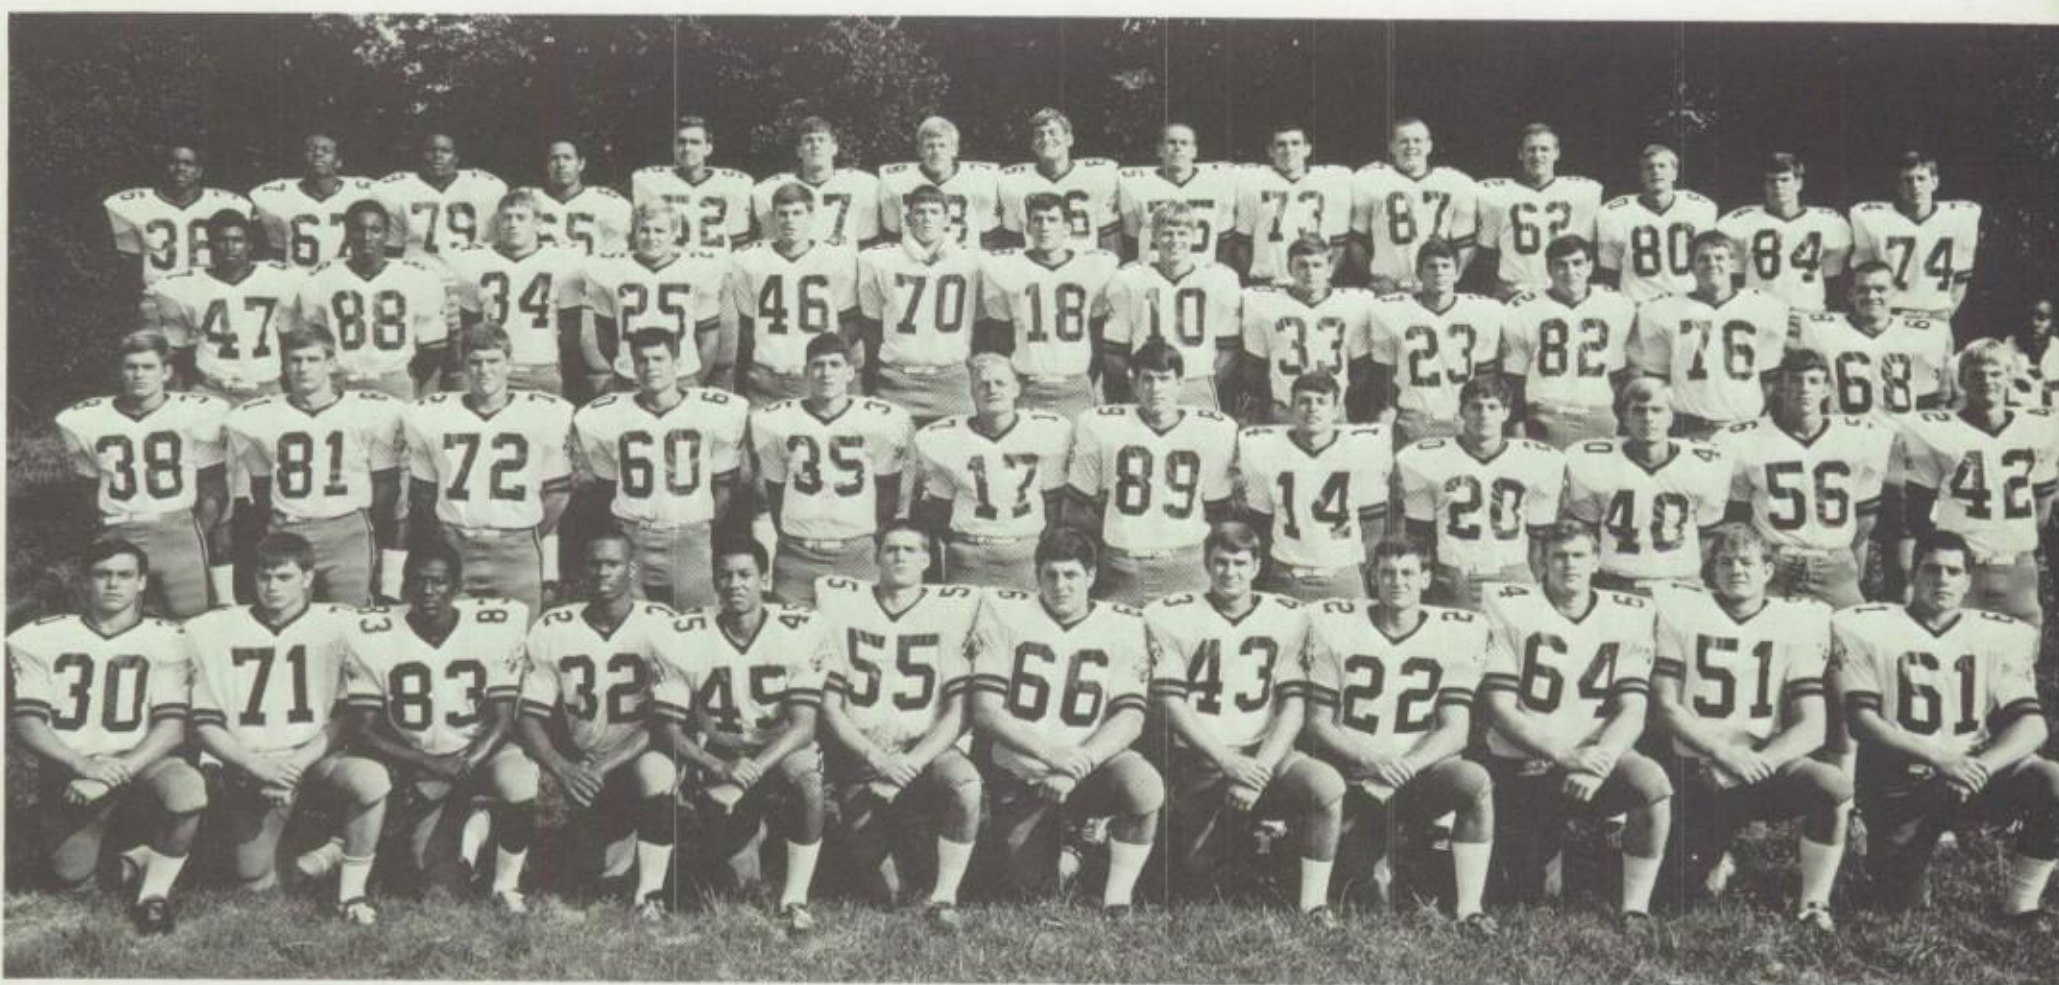

RJR's Demons again had a very successful season, finishing in a tie with Atkins' Camels for first place in the Central Group II Conference.

After starting the season off badly with losses to High Point Central and Raleigh Broughton, the Demons bounced back with 5 consecutive victories. Reynolds' winning streak was broken only by a loss to Atkins.

Top players were named by coach Bryson: Jeff Christopher, Monty Lineback, Danny Tutterow, Bobby Deal, David Plummer, Leonard Houston, and John Arzonico.

Goal of state championship set for Black Demons

Early in the season, the Demon Cagers clobbered Smith in a non-conference game 53-46 and again 45-36. However, the first few teams proved to be tough for the Demons to defeat. As usual, layoff of team members because of grades and illness hurt RJR this year.

Head Coach Otis Hawkins worked many hours with the team to coordinate its strategy plans. The Reynolds' offense was greatly improved during the middle of the season. Many hours of practice in the gym helped to eliminate unnecessary ball handling and turnovers. About mid-season, the varsity players were shooting on an average of 70 times a game, and came out of their early slump by defeating East 75-53 in an important conference game.

Mark Rodgman, Neal Robinson, Edgar Roberts, Joe Williams, George McFadden, Billy Evans, and David Allen made up the senior portion of the varsity basketball team.

Shooting a basket takes more than height

During the first few weeks of basketball try-outs, each participant wonders when or if he will be cut from the team along with those who have already met this defeat. After the team has been selected, the players face blood, sweat, and tears in long hours of practice and in important conference games.

Grapplers confronted by powerful opposition

Spirit and good sportsmanship were the strong points of the Demon Grapplers this year. Thirty-five individuals submitted themselves to the rigorous training necessary to get themselves into top physical shape.

Training is held every day during the season except for those days on which a match is held. Practice consists mostly of calisthenics, running, and instruction in the various holds and releases of wrestling.

Team dashes to victory

Pained expressions, struggling styles, and impassive faces confront the spectator of a cross country meet, perhaps making him wonder why the runners would put themselves through this torture. Whatever their individual reasons, the Reynolds Cross Country team had an outstanding season, compiling a record of 13 wins and only 3 losses under their new coach Mr. Jon Omdahl. Bob Crump was Reynolds' best runner, usually finishing first or second during the regular season and placing well in post-season championship meets. Never far behind was Bruce Warshawsky.

Weight training is taken to strengthen muscles for athletics during the year.

1 . . . 2 . . . 3 . . . LIFT! . . . whew . . .

Weight training is a "must" if a high school wishes to have a successful athletic program. Its main purpose is to build up the muscles and to help him "gain confidence" in himself.

Out of the 90 individuals who went out for Weight Training this year the majority were athletes preparing for tennis or baseball.

Tension from lifting a heavy weight contorts a participant's face.

Power press, squat bar, power flip, squat thrust, curls, and machine press are some of the exercises used.

To possess good running ability, much practice and proper breath control are needed.

Sprinting, bulging muscles

Early in the year this group of dedicated athletes prepared for another successful season for the Track team. Several boys built up speed and endurance by running through the neighborhoods as early as December. When the weather warmed up, the teams were taken to the field.

Many strides and steps paid off with a well-rounded and conditioned track team. The coaches believed in effort and spirit and shaped many boys from potentials to winners. With devotion Reynolds' fans can go forward to many more champion, record-breaking track teams.

Coach Omdahl urges track members to build endurance.

Golf—played according to the lay of the land.

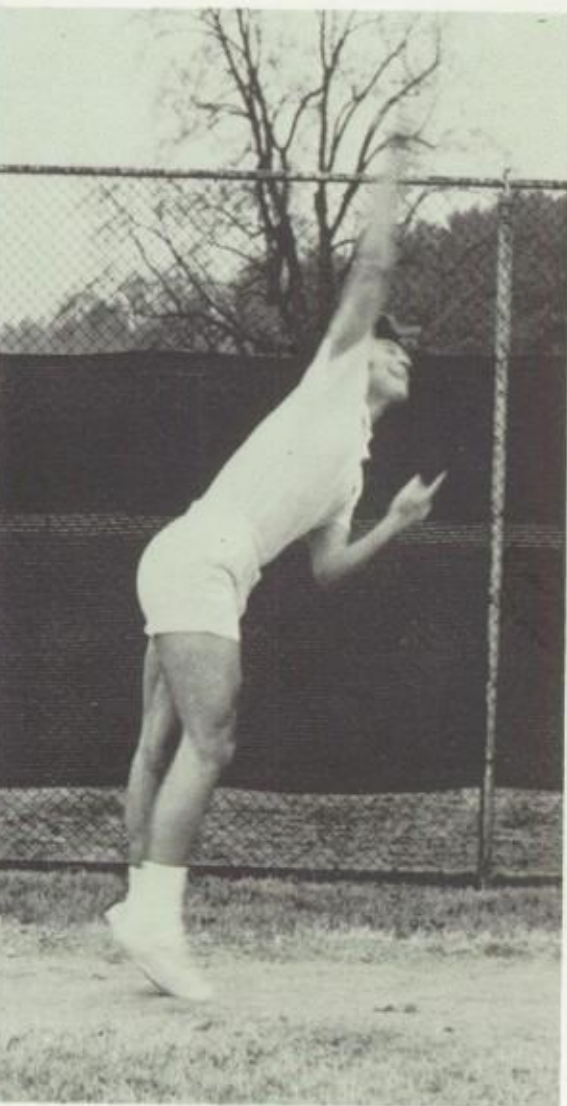

Goal — a skillfully hit ball

With only five returning lettermen, the Reynolds tennis team was in a year of rebuilding. Coached by Mr. Clark Taylor, the boys took to the clay courts early in March. Some good sophomore prospects brighten hopes for a good season. Featuring Randy Transou, last year's State Champion Golfer, the golf team, normally practicing at either Forsyth or Old Town Country Clubs, entertains high hopes for another successful season. Led by Coach Bryson, the team looks forward to 6 conference matches and section and state play-offs.

Cheri Pou first female member of swim team

Comprised of a mixture of senior, junior, and sophomore boys, the Reynolds swimming team was once again the only high school representing Forsyth County. Although handicapped by inadequate facilities at the YWCA and by too little practice time, the swimmers worked hard under their new coach, Mr. Jack Tesh. Captains this year were Dev Clark (Sr.), Bob Johnston (Sr.), and Tim Price (Jr.).

Demons strong in pitching

Coach Cox instructs players in baseball strategy.

Flanked by sparsely filled bleachers, the baseball team, rarely heralded by cheerleaders, numerous spectators, or much publicity, plays games in undaunted hopes for the district championship. Left without infielders last year, the team is in a process of rebuilding and preparation for the season.

Whether jawing their chewing gum, being instructed by Coach Cox, sweating under the full sun, striking out, or slamming home runs, the players exhibit an enthusiastic attitude typified by friendly joking after a 0-10 defeat or pleasant modesty after a 10-0 victory.

Baseball players learn to keep an eye on the ball, and one on the pitcher.

Fighting Methodists display dexterity

Including long hours of touch practice, the Children's Home Baseball Team strived continuously throughout the baseball season to maintain good sportsmanship, team spirit, a sense of responsibility and to stay in the best physical condition. Combining physical strength, team unity and various forms of strategy in all plays, the Children's Home Basketball team claimed success for another basketball season. Working with the basketball team were the Varsity Cheerleaders, boosting spirit and support for the members.

CH girls develop technique, illustrate sportsmanship

Throughout the past year, girls from the Children's Home became increasingly involved in competitive sports. Rendering long hours of service to their team, each girl strove to attain individual recognition as well as success for her fellow team mates.

Playing with teams that on occasion defeated Reynolds, these girls showed a remarkable attitude for good sportsmanship and co-ordination with the rest of the Reynolds students.

Owing to the tremendous maintained involvement that each girl retained, Reynolds received many well-rounded students.

CH girls' sports require technique, endurance, and sportsmanship.

Much pep and boosting support is contributed by CH girls during games.

Lettered-athletes sell cushions

Composed of boys who have proven their worthiness, the Reynolds Monogram Club is an honor club for athletes. Members must have earned a letter by competing in a sport at Reynolds, which often involves much hard work and time. Fund-raising is the principal activity of the club and this year, projects include such money-makers as sponsoring the Black and Gold game and selling sandwiches and drinks at teacher meetings.

Leaders eliminate chicken fat

Giving up one study hall a day is just one of the requirements of the junior and senior girls who help the physical education teachers by being gym leaders. In the absence of a gym teacher the gym leader may take over and direct the class. Some of her duties are checking showers and lockers, distributing towels, and doing any other necessary odd jobs.

Becoming a gym official requires time and preparation. Before a girl is allowed to officiate at any game sports, she must take a test on the rules and regulations concerning that individual game. In officiating the intramural games the gym official is also responsible for keeping the score conditions. An officials' clinic is held to better familiarize the official with her duty.

Members hold retreat

Forty members participated in the many activities of the Girls Athletic Association this year. Car washes, candy sale, and bake sales contributed to the treasury from which the GAA awards a one hundred dollar scholarship to its most deserving senior girl.

In the fall about twenty-five members were initiated at a retreat to Camp Virginian. Requirements for GAA are that each have a certain number of points obtainable through varsity and intramural sports, and that she earn at least 75 points per year that she is a member.

Team finishes with even season — 3 wins, 3 losses

Kicking, passing, and dribbling down the field in the late afternoon sunshine, the Girls Varsity Speedball team, coached by Mrs. Brower, practiced diligently each afternoon to turn in a successful season. After playing a slate of six games, each of the thirty members of the team, through victory and defeat, learned the necessity of teamwork.

 Emily Freeman '71

Two seniors, nine juniors, and seven sophomores made up the Girls Varsity Basketball team this year. Coached by Mrs. Zink, practice was held twice weekly, with games held on Tuesday and Friday afternoons during the season which ran from early December until late February. Through victory and defeat, teamwork and sportsmanship were prominent, making the season a success.

Volleying and serving require alertness

After the packing away of the basketballs, and preparing for spring's warm weather and outdoor sports, eighteen girls practiced strenuously in the girls' gym for the varsity volleyball team. Coached by Mrs. Brower, who often actively participated in practice games herself, the girls played well in contests against North, West, East, Mt. Tabor, Parkland, and Atkins, with last year's championship still in their minds. The girls showed true sportsmanship, a characteristic which the volleyball team always displayed.

Volleyball Row One: S. Peters, L. Frazier, A. Correll, D. Fulton. Row Two: C. Williams, O. Benbow, J. Ayers, C. Washington, L. Minor, N. Johnson, C. Pou.

Batters tense in hot sun

With the approach of warm weather approximately nineteen girls gathered on the Hanes Field softball diamond after school to practice batting, pitching, fielding, and catching, after gaining positions on the Girls Varsity Softball team. Before each practice, several laps around the track in the afternoon heat proved hot and tiring to the determined girls, but all of this conditioning payed off in the softball games, which were held in the afternoons after school.

Coached by Mrs. Zink, the girls practiced skills and game strategy by playing against each other in intra-squad games.

Gazing through the prism of learning, we became aware of the many different angles of life. As we explored, seeking to find answers to the question which faced us, we were guided by our skilled instructors. They shared their beliefs and past experiences and taught us facts which we could apply to our own life. With much perserverance, our instructors led us through the paths of knowledge and into the gates of perception.

Katherine,

Amidst the indigestion in the crowds

School Board promotes education

The Board of Education is composed of the School Board and the Administrative Staff. Discussing issues concerning the welfare of the students and preparing the budget are concerns of the School Board, while the Administrative Staff makes decisions on snow days and in general, keeping the school system running smoothly.

Serving as executive head of the school system, Mr. Ward, together with two associates and three assistant superintendents, serves on the School Board.

Administrative Staff Winston-Salem Forsyth County Schools. Seated: Mr. C. T. Leinbach, Jr., comptroller; Mr. Ned R. Smith, associate superintendent; Mr. Marvin Ward, superintendent; Mr. Raymond L. Scarbaugh, associate superintendent. Standing: Mr. L. Eugene Johnston, assistant superintendent; Mr. Robert L. Blevins, assistant superintendent; Mr. Leo G. Morgan, assistant superintendent.

Principals face decisions

Coordination between principals, secretaries, and office aids is vital for the unity of a school as large as Reynolds. Mr. Deaton, Mr. Hauser and Mr. Bryant maintain discipline in proportion to understanding, as the best policy for dealing with the problems of 2,000 vastly different students. Inviting lecturers, issuing parking and lunch permits, and keeping records in order occupy Reynolds' principals.

Mr. Robert Deaton B.S.; M.A.

Mr. Deaton, Principal of Reynolds, works toward giving the Reynolds student a better chance for education. He is chairman of the Senior High Principal's Association and is on the Board of Directors for the State Student Council.

Mr. Joe Hauser B.S.; M.A.

Keeping order among students, signing excuses for absentees, and talking to concerned students are the duties of Mr. Hauser, assistant principal. He also likes to play golf for relaxation.

Mr. William Bryant A.B.; M.A.

Assistant principal at Reynolds, Mr. Bryant performed important duties daily: checking tardies, solving teacher-pupil problems and supervising the busses and the cafeteria. He is in his third year at Reynolds.

Counselors aid many Students find few suggestion boxes at Reynolds. Able counselors stand prepared should any pupil wish an opinion, a confidant, or a friend. Even the untroubled students seek encouragement from amiable advisers. The guidance department, headed by Miss Weaver organizes schedules, individual records and conferences. This year, aid from counselors has taken an increasingly more personal tone. Notices reminding students of special tests, exams and points for graduation were issued regularly. Grades were examined and re-examined to give each student the full benefits of his work.

Miss Janie Weaver A.B.

Dedicated to aiding students, Miss Weaver, head of the guidance department, routinely rearranges schedules and fills out college transcripts. Aside from numerous other duties, she works needle-point for relaxation.

Mrs. Adele Burney A.M.

With Mrs. Burney's never-ending patience and sympathetic nature, she listens to problems, complaints, and to college-bound students. Apart from school life, she plays bridge and likes to sew.

Mr. Robert Jones B.S.; M.E.

As both an advisor and friend, Mr. Jones, guidance counselor, steers many students through their junior year. He spends leisure hours in his shop and in his garden.

Mrs. Ruby Harris A.B.; M.E.

Helping numerous students to arrange and rearrange schedules, decide on careers to pursue and schools to attend, Mrs. Harris, guidance counselor, is always ready to assist.

Mrs. Frances Dancy

Between a full schedule of typing and filing, Mrs. Dancy takes time out to have a friendly chat and greet students in the Guidance office. Her love for flowers and bowling absorbs her free time.

Mrs. Mary Hart

In her seventh year at R.J.R., Mrs. Hart not only uses her secretarial and bookkeeping skills but makes announcements and manages to correct small flaws in schedule with ease.

New room to catalogue periodicals provided

Mrs. Mae McCuen

Communication with the students is an important factor in Mrs. McCuen's job as she issues lunch permits and parking stickers. She is constantly occupied with the numerous tasks assigned to school secretaries.

Mr. Jerry Walker

New to the Administrative Staff this year, Mr. Walker assists the principals and handles all absentees. He also enjoys traveling in Europe as a tour guide during the summer showing his Pembroke Welch Corgi and Yachting.

Mrs. Yvonne Baron B.S.

A veteran teacher from Carver High School, Mrs. Baron is serving her first year at Reynolds as a Librarian supervising the audio-visual division. When she has free time, Mrs. Baron is fond of jazz and literature.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sink B.A.; M.A.

Mrs. Sink stays constantly occupied adding over a thousand books to the shelves each year, and keeping the library organized. Summer vacations offer Mrs. Sink the opportunity to fulfill her love of travel.

Hawthorne . . . Poe . . . Dickens . . . novels characterize English

Reynolds' English Department instructed students not only by memorization, drilling and review, but also by discussion and composition. Development of Oral Composition was encouraged as an important part of communication with one's fellowman even in this age of messages via satellite. English grammar and the mechanics of the English language served as a foundation for self expression. To supplement poetry and short stories, interest in writing book reviews, informative essays, and in-depth studies was carefully cultivated by the aware English teacher. Under the supervision of Miss Kapp, English students emerged better suited for the world ahead.

Mrs. Carol Petrea A.B.

New at Reynolds this year, Mrs. Petrea combines her love and talent for teaching into an interesting senior English class. She also teaches drama.

Miss Elizabeth Kapp A.B.

Heading the English Department, Miss Kapp stimulates enthusiasm in her classes with the insertion of numerous anecdotes into the study of American Literature.

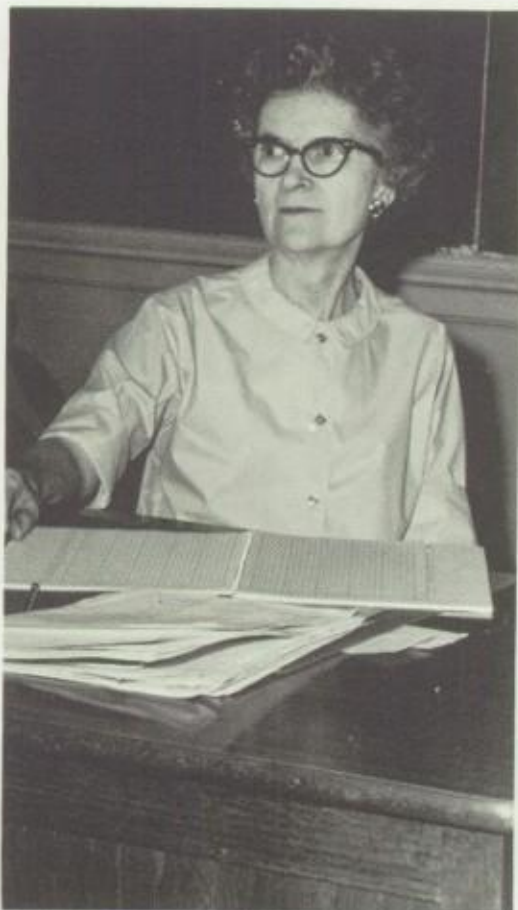

Mrs. Erline Martin A.B.

Good literary background and correct compositional skills are taught encouragingly in Mrs. Martin's A.P. and senior English classes. In addition to English, the complex literary world of Shakespeare, Homer, and many others are read and discussed.

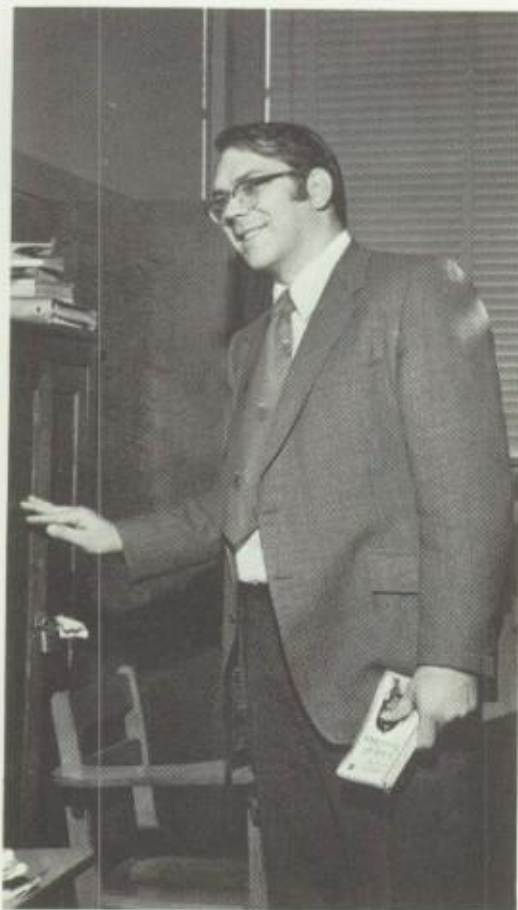

Miss Lucile Edwards A.B.

Miss Edwards aids her senior English students in striving toward individualism and contemporary thought. Her broadminded philosophy and acceptance of new teaching techniques are overshadowed only by her friendly personality, sense of humor, and vast knowledge of the English language.

Mr. Jack Tesh B.A.

This year Mr. Tesh is teaching Senior English and Sociology. He is the supervisor of the book room and is the defensive back field coach for the Varsity Football team.

Miss Gwendolyn Hariston A.B.; M.A.

Miss Hariston, a graduate of Knoxville College, and A & T State University, came to Reynolds last year from Anderson. She teaches Junior English III. Her outside interests involve music and photo collecting.

Mrs. Verline Venable B.A.

Having last been a teacher at Anderson Senior High, Mrs. Venable now teaches junior and senior English here at Reynolds. She also serves the school by sponsoring the Serviteers.

Mrs. Ann Williams B.S.

Romanticism, classicism, idealism, and Puritanism are but a few aspects of Literature being taught along with English grammar in Mrs. Williams' English III classes. Mrs. Williams is the sponsor of the Student Council.

Mrs. Janice Owings A.B.; M.A.

Mrs. Owings devotes much time and effort to the publication of the Pine Whispers and the Black and Gold. She teaches classes in sophomore English and Journalism.

*Best teacher,
Evelyn Garrison*

Mrs. Wilma Epps B.A.

Teaching English II and IV, Mrs. Epps enjoys the atmosphere at Reynolds. Maintaining congenial classes, time always permits teacher involvement.

Mrs. Marjorie Stephenson B.A.

Serving as Dean of Girls, sponsor of the Sophomores, Mrs. Stephenson emphasizes grammar and proper usage of the English language.

Mrs. Evelyn Garrison A.B.; M.E.

Mrs. Garrison, while teaching the mechanics of English and proper speaking habits to her English and Public Speaking classes, still finds time to sponsor the Debating Club, National Forensic League, and the Masque and Gavel.

Concentration, memorization = quality education for all

The foreign language department, which includes Latin, French, Spanish, German, plays a vibrant role in the daily life at Reynolds. With the help of the language lab, managed by Mrs. Hamrick, students are able to hear a native speaker, and then respond, following as close to the diction of the speaker as possible. Then a tape may be played back, enabling the student to hear his own voice.

Along with the language lab, the department, headed by Mrs.

Margaret McDermott, offers films and records to the classes. Through these aids, the language students learn many of the native people.

Club meetings of the foreign languages provide a chance for students to express themselves in the language which they are studying, whether it be dining at a Roman banquet, the singing of traditional French carols at Christmas, a German "fest", or the breaking of the pinota.

Miss Jean Binkley B.A.

Miss Binkley's warm and friendly personality is an asset to her Latin and Junior English classes. She sponsors the cheerleaders, enjoys playing the piano, and takes part in volunteer work for Cystic Fibrosis.

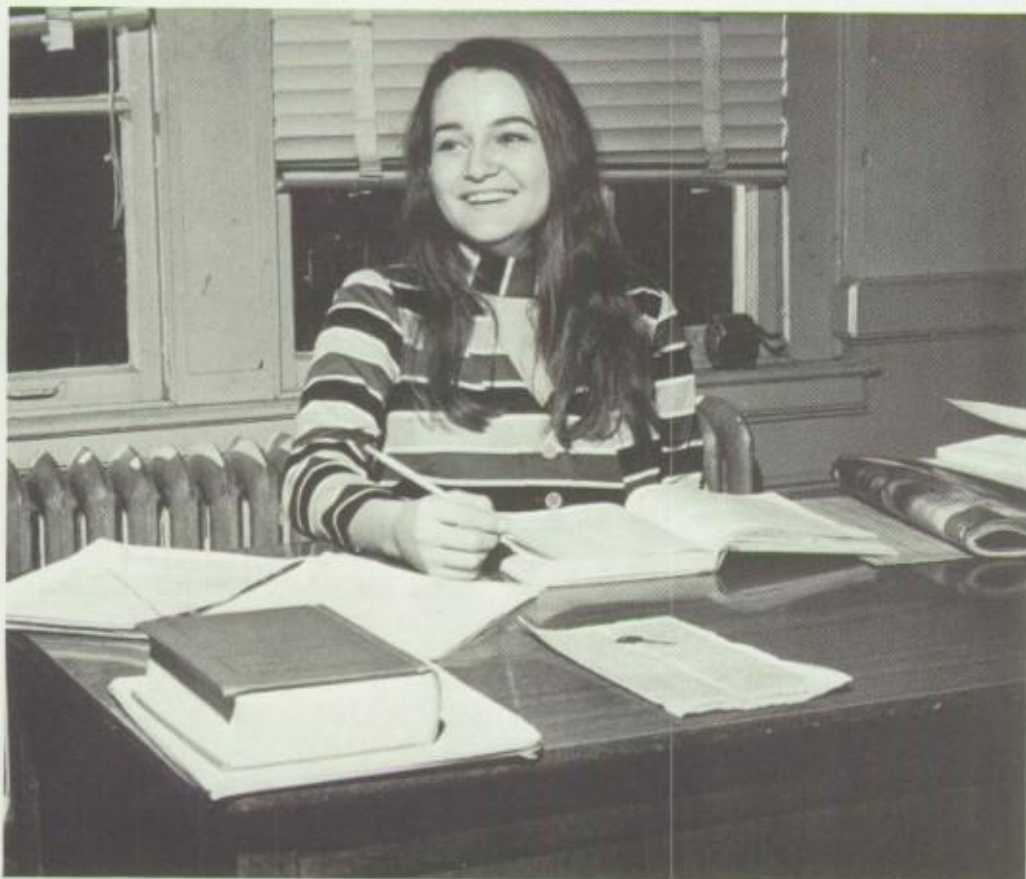

Mrs. Margaret McDermott A.B.; M.E.

Using many outside resources, Mrs. McDermott keeps her students interested in Latin and Greek Myths in her Mythology class. Reading and listening to Chopin occupy much of her leisure time.

Mrs. Eloise Curlee A.B.

In Mrs. Curlee's varied schedule at Reynolds, she teaches French and Latin, and sponsors the Latin Club. She also co-sponsors the National Honor Society. Time still permits reading and entertaining at home.

Mrs. Vivian Rupplin A.B.

Stressing grammar, literature and civilization, Mrs. Rupplin instructs classes in French III, French IV, and French V. When free from classwork and sponsoring the French Club and French National Honor Society, Mrs. Rupplin is an amateur carpenter.

Mrs. Janie Donaldson A.B.

French II and English II students seldom find a dull moment while listening to one of Mrs. Donaldson's interesting stories about her trip to Europe. She also serves as co-sponsor of the French Club and House of Representatives.

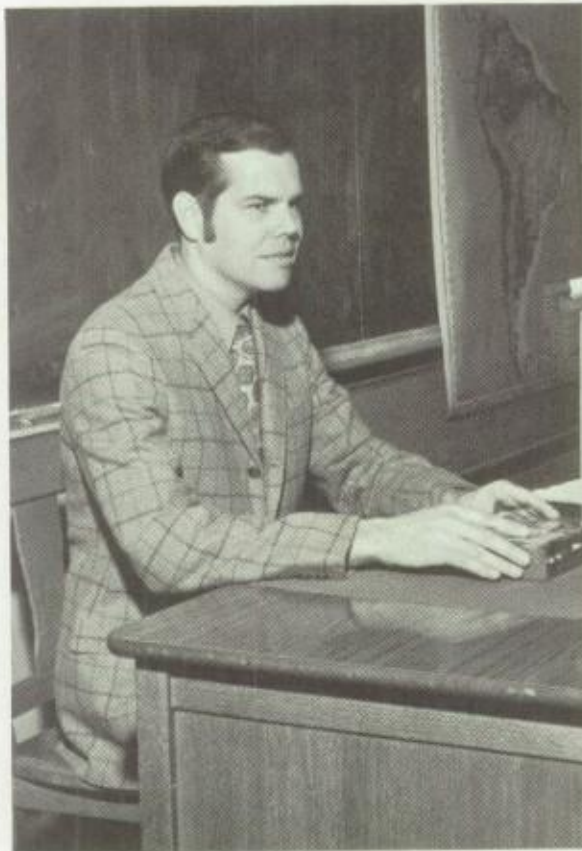

Mrs. Aileen Hepler M.A.

Various aspects of the German language are enhanced with culture and customs of its people as explained by Mrs. Hepler. Having traveled to Germany several times, she is able to relate true experiences to her classes.

Mrs. Charles Morrison B.S.

Showing slides of Spain and Latin America to his classes, Mr. Morrison teaches Spanish and English II. He attended the University of Salamanca in Spain this year and has recently visited Mexico, Ecuador, Venezuela and Colombia.

Best wishes to a good student and friend.
Sandra Mitchell
 Mrs. Jayne Mitchell A.B.

With great enthusiasm, Mrs. Mitchell teaches her sophomore English classes and her Spanish I classes to conjugate verbs, the parts of speech and other important facts about the language.

Mrs. Hortensia Villalon B.S.; M.A.

Using tapes, records, filmstrips, lectures, and the benefit of her newly acquired Masters Degree, Mrs. Villalon teaches Spanish II and IV and helps to sponsor the Spanish Club.

Mrs. Elsa Hampton B.A.

A native of Cuba, Mrs. Hampton enlightens her Spanish students with life experiences and Spanish customs familiar to her from her childhood. She also sponsors the International Club.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hamrick

Amid various controls and materials, Mrs. Hamrick, head of the language lab, works daily to keep the lab functioning for the students enrolled in a foreign language.

Art proves to be a refuge for imaginative effort

Offering the media for self-expression, Art classes promote an atmosphere of understanding our fellowman. Fears, thoughts and social problems are presented with one's viewpoint for all to conceive individually. Creativity and imagination are dominant factors, thus stimulating interest. So are the mysteries of Art revealed.

For some, music is a stimulus; to others, a career; and to others, the realities of life. The Reynolds Band and chorus contain a number of all. They also realize the varied audiences for which they play, thus they are able to present all forms of Music. At times, these forces are unified. Remember: "Let There Be Peace On Earth"?

Mr. John Fox A.B.; M.F.A.

By teaching students ways to express themselves in the medium of art, Mr. Fox prepares them to appreciate the values of art and to use it in their lives following graduation. He paints and sells his own work.

Mrs. Sandra Hicks B.S.

Miss Hicks came to Reynolds this year from Radford College, where she graduated with a B.S. in Art. She teaches Art I and Art II and enjoys traveling to such places as the British Isles.

Seek harmony in your life?

Mr. Robert Smith B.A.; M.A.

Besides teaching classes in band and music theory, Mr. Smith directs the Stage and Pep bands. When not directing the chorus or the band, he likes to play the piano and arrange music.

Past events frame our tomorrows

Sophomores, Juniors, Seniors have the chance to relive the numerous past years of history. Not only does one have the opportunity to discover United States and European History, but also to study functions or different parts of history in Government class, Sociology, World Cultures, Economics, or Humanities. Classes offer a deeper look at a particular area and influence in the infinite continuance of history. Equipped with new techniques and facilities, teachers are able to present the past centuries and aid students in comprehending the present.

Mr. Charles Ragland A.B.

One may hear many an interesting lecture behind the walls of room 015 where Mr. Ragland teaches history and economics. During his spare time, Mr. Ragland enjoys travel and adding to his coin collection.

Mrs. Hazel Flack B.A.

Organizing group work, encouraging independent studies, and inserting an aura of variety into her lectures, Mrs. Flack teaches U.S. History, sponsors the Student Council, and serves as head of the History Department.

Miss Margaret Benbow A.B.; M.A.T.

Miss Benbow uses visual aids in teaching her U.S. History and sociology classes. Outside information and speakers also add to class interest and participation. Her hobbies include swimming and knitting.

Mr. Philip Ashley B.S.

In his fifth year at Reynolds, Mr. Ashley teaches United States History and European History. He also enjoys reading.

Miss Annie Graham Caldwell A.B.; B.S.

Instructing juniors in American History is Miss Caldwell's teaching area. She is also well known as the devoted director of the pep board council and its many school spirit activities.

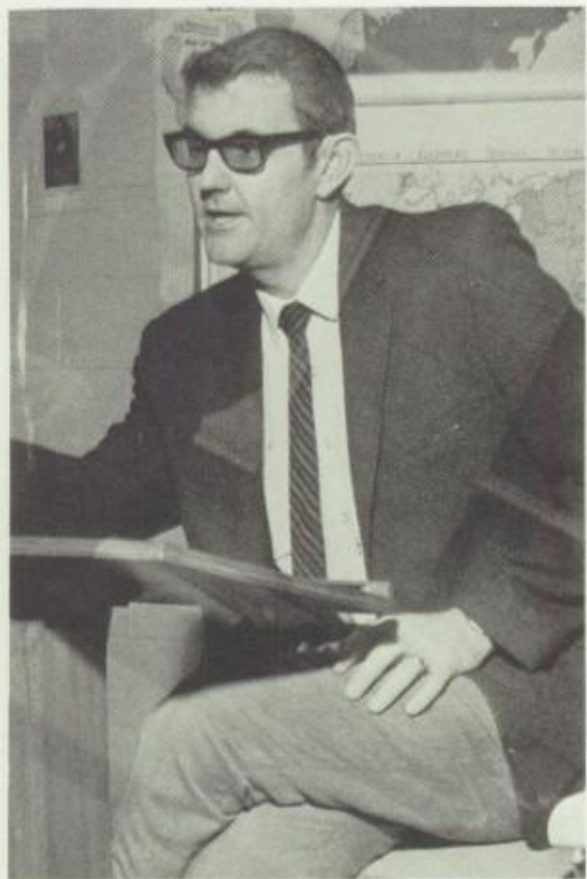

Mr. Jon Omdahl B.S.

New to Reynolds this year, Mr. Omdahl conducts three sociology classes, as well as two Contemporary Affairs classes. Students all agree that his ready wit and cheery smile makes class interesting.

Miss Susan Carter B.S.

Graduating from Appalachian State with a B.S. in social studies, Miss Carter teaches Humanities, World Cultures and European History. She sponsors the Dancing Boots, and helps with the Human Relations Committee and the Senior Girls Club.

Mr. William Sipes B.S.; M.E.

Mr. Sipes instructs students in Senior European History, Sophomore European History and U.S. History. He is also on the coaching staff for Junior Varsity Basketball.

Mrs. Joann Raulerson B.A.

Constructing interesting lectures from thick, archaic volumes of the past, Mrs. Raulerson unveils history to her A.P. and regular European History classes. She spends her summers working at the Virginian, a camp for boys and girls.

Mr. Otis Hawkins B.S.

As well as teaching world cultures and sociology, Mr. Hawkins also employs his knowledge of athletics by serving as head basketball coach and assistant football coach.

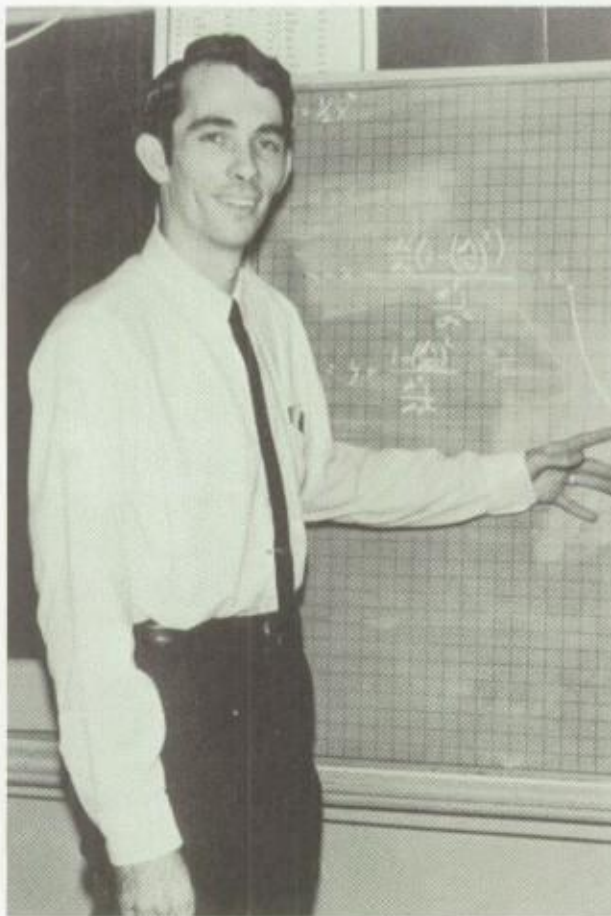

Mrs. Lucinda Moser B.A.

Serving as head of the Mathematics Department, Mrs. Moser is interested in aiding all of her students with their Advanced Algebra and Trigonometry and Algebra II.

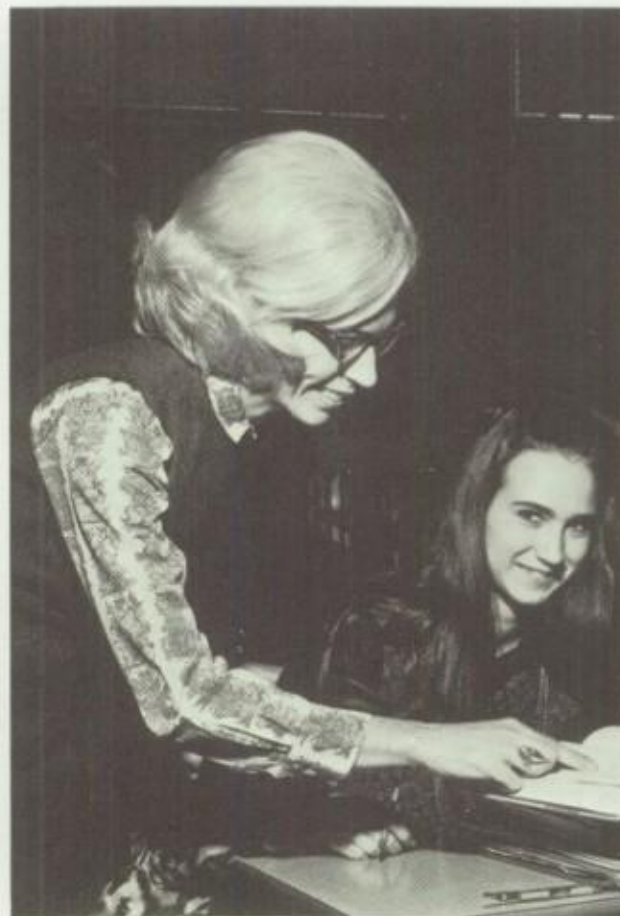

Mr. Jackie Fritts B.S.

In the course of a school day, Mr. Fritts enlightens his Modern Algebra, Algebra II, and Advanced Placement students in varied studies that pertain to mathematics. After school, he sponsors the Math Club.

Mrs. Leola Harmon B.S.; M.A.T.

Mrs. Harmon, having received experience from her first year at Reynolds, enjoys teaching geometry and Algebra I. In her hours away from school she spends time with her 3 year old daughter.

Mrs. Caroline Spencer

Behind the stacks of test papers on her desk, Mrs. Spencer is ready with a cheerful smile and an encouraging word to help her many students comprehend the world of Algebra II.

Mrs. Mary Compton B.S.

Blackboards filled with mathematical computation is one characteristic of Mrs. Compton's Algebra I classes. She is sponsor of the Junior Class. After school, she spends her leisure hours reading and sewing.

Mr. Charles Ferree B.S.

With the help of circles, squares and algebraic expressions, Mr. Ferree teaches his students Geometry and Advanced Algebra. Aside from sponsoring the Leo Club, his after-school hours are spent enjoying sports both as spectator and participant.

Mrs. Mildred Rash B.S.

In her sixth year at Reynolds, Mrs. Rash guides many students through Geometry, Algebra II and General Math. She enjoys playing bridge in her spare time.

Math — an experience for problems to come

Reynolds students have access to one of the better Mathematics Departments in our system. Classes range from General Math and Geometry, through Algebra and Advanced Placement Mathematics. Students learn to balance budgets, devise formulas and cope with the system of free enterprise. Theories are explained and answers are revealed as students probe for, and apply knowledge. Math is practical, whether the purpose be to build a bridge or reach the moon. Headed by Mrs. Moser, the Mathematics Department strives to stimulate every student's practical needs as well as prepare him for any vocation he may choose after graduation.

Mr. William Bingham B.S.; M.A.

The many uses and concepts of numbers are taught by Mr. Bingham in his classes of General Math and Algebra. In his after school hours, Mr. Bingham enjoys sports.

Mrs. Billie E. Diamond B.S.

Aside from instructing students in Algebra II and Plane Geometry, Mrs. Diamond enjoys bowling, football and basketball both as participant and spectator.

Mrs. Martha Ann Tomlinson B.A.

Relaying the principles of Geometry, Algebra II and General Math, Miss Tomlinson also co-sponsors the Senior Girls' Club. She is a graduate from U.N.C.G. and is teaching her third year at Reynolds.

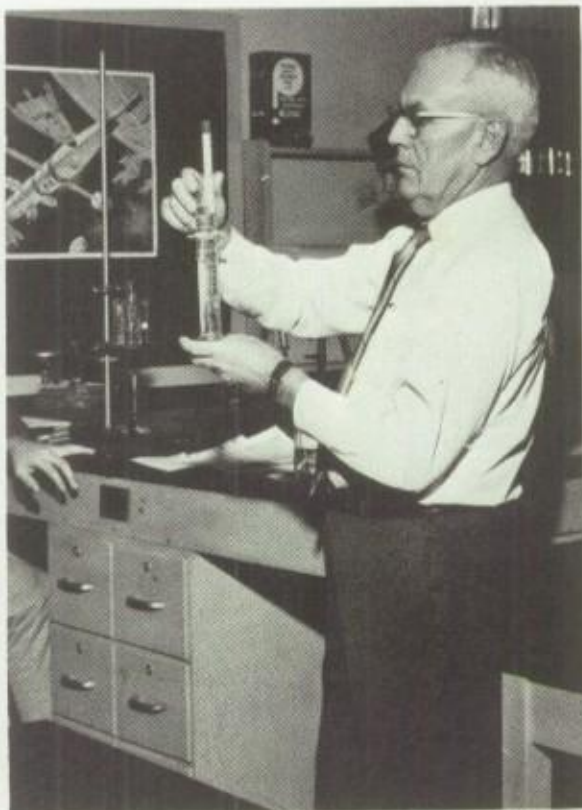

Miss Mataline Collette B.A.; M.E.

Her room decorated with perodic tables and valence charts, Miss Collette goes about her daily tasks as chemistry teacher and head of the Science Department.

Mr. Harry Wilson A.B.

Between washing and drying test tubes, beakers, and other scientific apparatus, Mr. Wilson instructs A.P. and General Chemistry courses. He also devotes much time to sponsoring the Science Club.

Mrs. Mary Jane Whalen B.S.; M.A.; A.B.L.S.

Now in her second year at Reynolds, Mrs. Whalen, conveys her enthusiasm for physics and chemistry to her students. She also sponsors the Scribblers Club.

*Best wishes,
C. Steelman*

Mrs. Catherine Steelman B.S.; M.E.

Agar filled petree dishes lining the shelves, and steam scents from the autoclave are two characteristics of Mrs. Steelman's BSCS and Advanced Placement Biology classes. Much of her time is spent as advisor to the senior class.

Miss Shirley McCraw B.S.

This year Miss McCraw has found her field botany courses taken at Duke most helpful in teaching Green Version B.S.C.S. In addition to teaching she enjoys tennis, golf, swimming, and horseback riding.

Mrs. Constance Martin B.S.

Mrs. Martin, a biology teacher who came from Atkins last year, finds the students to be very friendly, helpful, and cooperative. She enjoys sewing and going camping with her family.

Youth re-discovers the mysteries of our scientific age

New to the science department is a modern course in chemistry greatly stressing investigation as a mode for learning the principles behind modern scientific discoveries. Smells of burning sulphur and sulphuric acid filling the school prove that experiments are daily being made by those students taking chemistry and A.P. Chemistry.

Biology students experimented with biochemistry, genetics, and the effects of anti-biotics on the growth of bacteria. Through field and laboratory experimentation in the life sciences, many students learned the principles of ecology in Biology I, II, and A.P. Biology.

In today's modern world of scientific changes, it is necessary for one to have a sufficient background in science in order that one may discover more for the betterment of mankind.

Mr. Donald Grigg B.S.; M.A.T.

Keeping his classes lively, exciting, and interesting in a learning atmosphere, Mr. Grigg teaches advanced Biology classes in room 118. He serves Reynolds by sponsoring the Chess Club.

Mrs. Frances Rollins

Mrs. Rollins devotes much time to her first year biology students, often helping with special problems before and after school. She is studying for her Ph.D. in pharmacology.

Students muster energy to make the grade

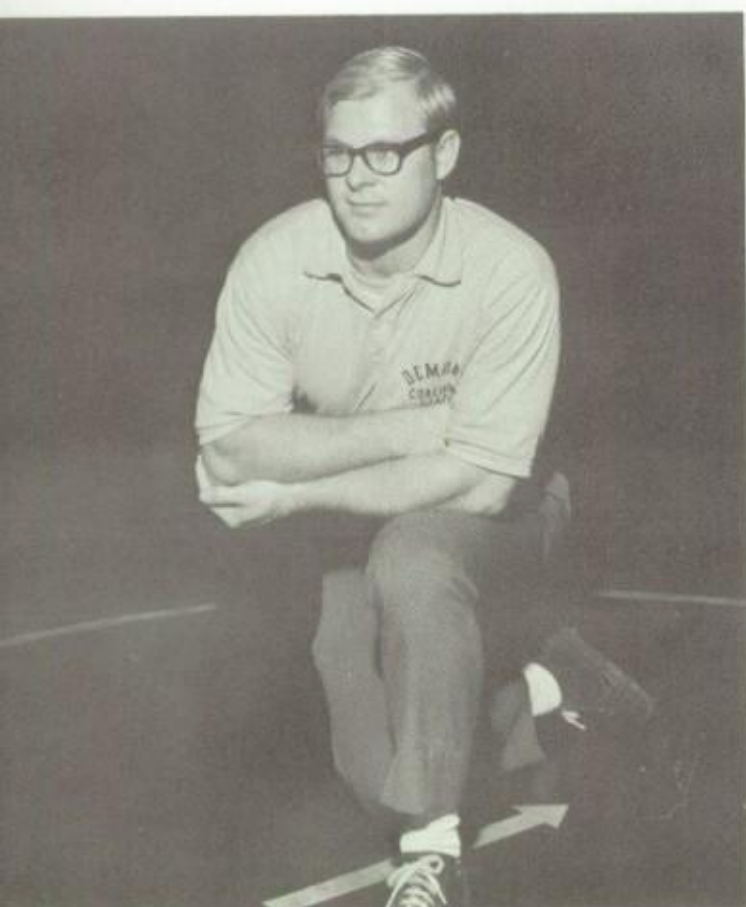

Many students put physical education second in importance to their academic courses. Physical Education offers one thing that no other course can offer; it gives the students an opportunity to develop himself physically whereas, all of the other courses are based upon mental ability.

Gym could be pretty rugged at times. The trampoline proved to be an obstacle to many students; especially when one realized, while dangling from the ceiling, that gym could be hazardous to one's health. Trampoline was not the only phase of physical education. However, Sophomores and juniors participated in such sports as soccer, basketball, gymnastics, volleyball, and tennis.

Mr. Herman Bryson

Teaching boys' Physical Education classes and coaching our Varsity Football team, Mr. Bryson is Athletic Director and head of Physical Education.

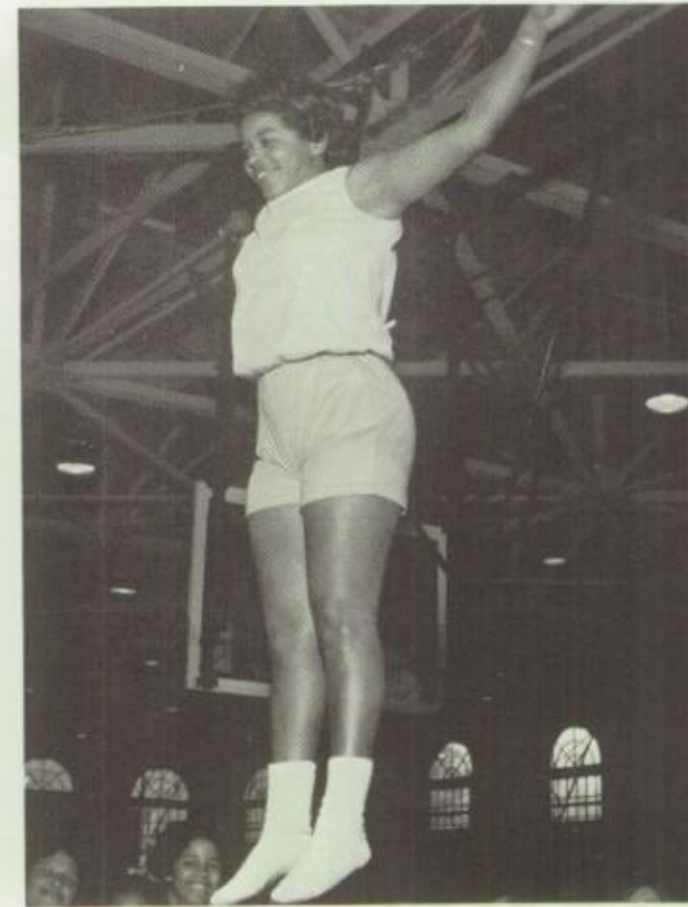

Mr. Robert Nelson Russell B.S.

Joining the faculty as Physical Education instructor this year is Mr. Robert Russell. He is a graduate of Appalachian University where he majored in Physical Education. Mr. Russell is also the new wrestling coach and line coach.

Mrs. Linda Zink B.S.

Mrs. Zink, who sponsors the girls' basketball and softball teams, keeps her students fit both physically and mentally by her instruction in biology and girls' Phys. Ed. classes.

Mrs. Josephine Brower B.S.; M.S.

Keeping the Reynolds girls physically fit brings great pleasure to Mrs. Brower who is one of the two gym teachers. Mrs. Brower sponsors the girls' Volleyball, Speedball, and Tennis teams.

*Best wishes
Katherine
J. Brower*

Mrs. Hazel Mitchell A.B.; M.E.

With students typing away, Mrs. Mitchell carefully times the assignments in her Typing and Shorthand classes. At home, however, her favorite pastimes are cooking and playing bridge.

Business meets needs of enterprising students

Business-minded students have the chance to prepare for the outside world by the many business courses offered at Reynolds. These courses include Typing, Shorthand, Bookkeeping, Business Law and Vocational Business. Students interested in pursuing business careers know that trained personnel is always in demand. The Reynolds Business Department promotes a broad business background for interested pupils. However, these classes can also aid college-bound students in all future undertakings. Other students may also find Business Education invaluable whatever course they pursue. These courses help each person to individually cope with the intricacies of the world around him.

Mrs. Louise Still A.B.

Mrs. Still who teaches typing, shorthand, and notehand, busies herself at home with housework and taking care of her family. She enjoys watching the fish in her aquarium as she prepares dinner.

Mrs. Clara FitzHugh B.S.; M.E.

As well as teaching Bookkeeping, Typing and other business courses, Mrs. FitzHugh has impressed a sense of student-teacher involvement. Her vivid sense of humor increases interest among the pupils.

Mrs. Valjeanne Smith B.S.C.

As a new addition to the Reynolds English Department, Mrs. Smith teaches both of her English II classes with the clarity and precision that she employs in her Typing classes. She enjoys singing and making her own wardrobe.

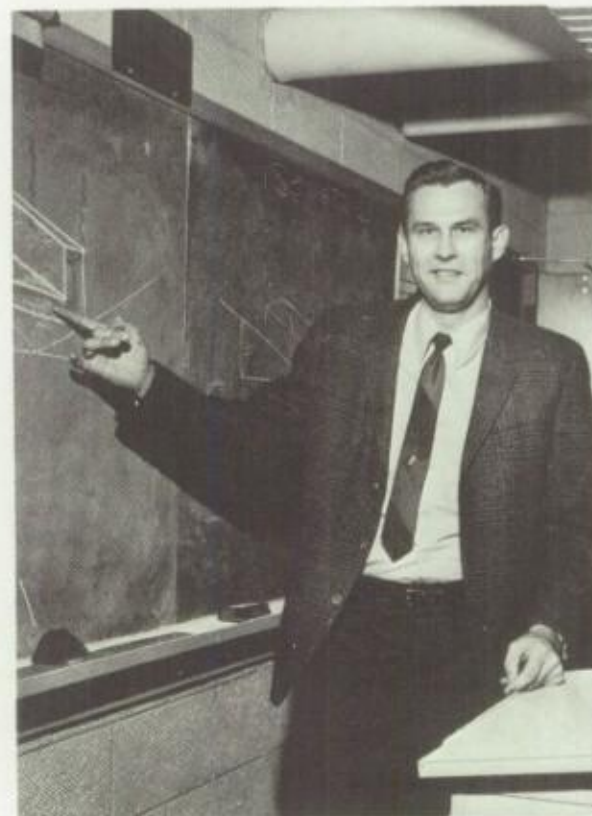

Skill, talent is displayed; practical needs are fulfilled

Every December the Industrial Arts Club, consisting of those students enrolled in an industrial arts course, strives to collect as many toys as possible for distribution to those children who would otherwise receive no toys for Christmas. Shop, mechanical drawing, and machine wood-working offered many students the vocational training they need in various fields.

Mr. Robert Taylor B.S.

As head of the Industrial Arts Department, Mr. Taylor teaches all Drafting classes and co-sponsors the Industrial Arts Club. He coaches football, wrestling, and tennis and enjoys photography, woodworking, and family camping.

Mr. Benny Mock B.S.

In his third year at Reynolds, Mr. Benny Mock is teaching Industrial Arts and Math. He is the co-advisor of the Industrial Arts Club and works with the J.V. Football team and Varsity Basketball team.

Mr. Jack Driver

As supervisor of the shop, Mr. Driver helps students find the tools they need and assists them in any other way he can. He also teaches Machine Shop.

Mr. Clarence Sawyer B.S.; M.S.

Reynolds Distributive Education teacher, Mr. Sawyer enjoys working with Reynolds students. He has B.S. and M.S. degrees from North Carolina State and A and T University. He participates in Civic work and enjoys astronomy and fishing.

Teachers aid many in plans for future

Mr. John Hutchins B.A.; M.A.

Teaching one government class and I.C.T. Mr. Hutchins heavy schedule always allows time for a smile or a chat before class.

Mr. Bobby Cox A.B.

With the aid of films and lectures, Mr. Cox instructs students in the classroom phase of Driver's Education. He also serves as coach of varsity baseball and football.

Mr. Michael Pelech A.B.

As well as assisting the student auditorium staff as manager of the auditorium, Mr. Pelech teaches the classroom and in-car parts of driving.

Mrs. Hope Harmon B.S.

In helping Reynold's girls to become home-makers, Mrs. Harmon patiently teaches her home economics classes. A sponsor of the Health Services Club, she also enjoys many creative activities at home.

Mrs. Frances Bruce

Teaching for her first year at Reynolds, Mrs. Bruce guides her students in learning the various aspects of home making. She instructs classes in Home Ec. II and Family Living.

Drivers Training becomes an invaluable asset

Excited sophomores scurried in and out of the "green room" in hopes that they would soon finish the classroom phase of Driver's Education. After each student has completed this first step of instruction, Mr. Cox and Mr. Pelech courageously teach the future drivers the "hows" of driving an automobile. Having completed this final step of edification the once nervous sophomores benefit greatly from the practice in driving a car.

Katherine,
It's been nice being in your Spanish class even though I've haven't been there very much. I hope you have enjoyed your first year at Reynolds. Have fun this summer and I hope you get everything from life that you wish.

Love,
David

Katherine!!

Whee, it's almost over for me. You hang in there and
keep RSR straight!!
Never forget our fun
week-end at Shirley Rogers and the scout meetings. Think about me in Big Orange Country!!

Love,

Jane Steadman

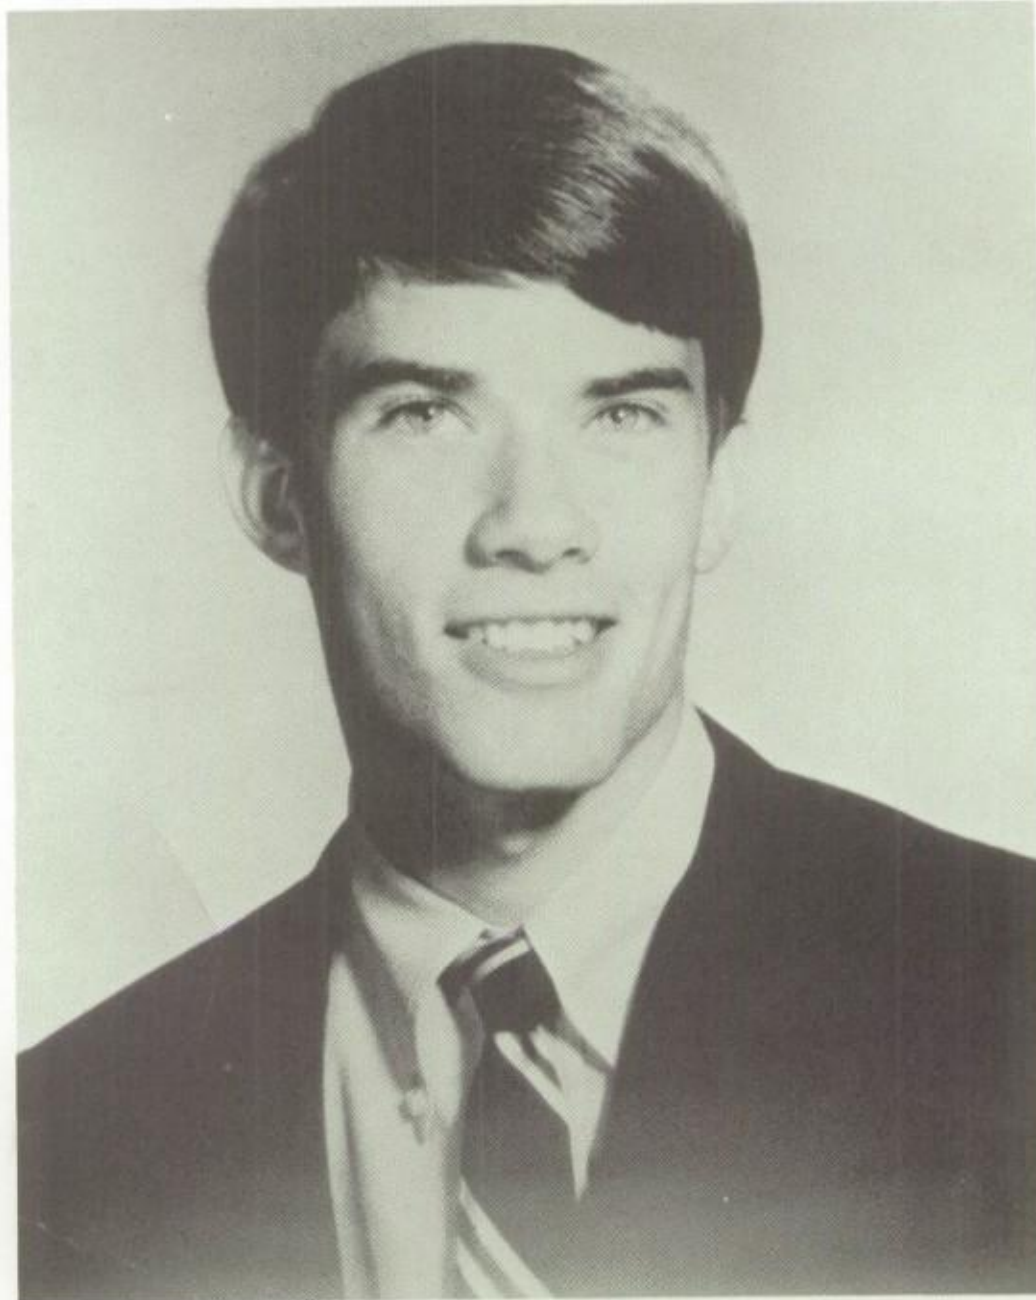

For many years, we were guided by our parents and teachers in the search for knowledge, but eventually the time came for us to stand alone.

By taking an objective view of our personalities, we were able to understand better the strong and weak angles which combined to make us an individual. Finding happiness as a student, communicating with others, and looking toward the future became easier when we gained a true perception of ourselves.

Map,
Now that summer is coming up, I hope you don't mind if I call you that. I enjoyed that 2 weeks at camp a few years ago and I hoped that I would be able to see you again. I've enjoyed those meetings in the hall. Be good but love you,
Sarah Remsburg

Floyd Smith Burge, III
(Smitty)

November 5, 1952 - October 9, 1970

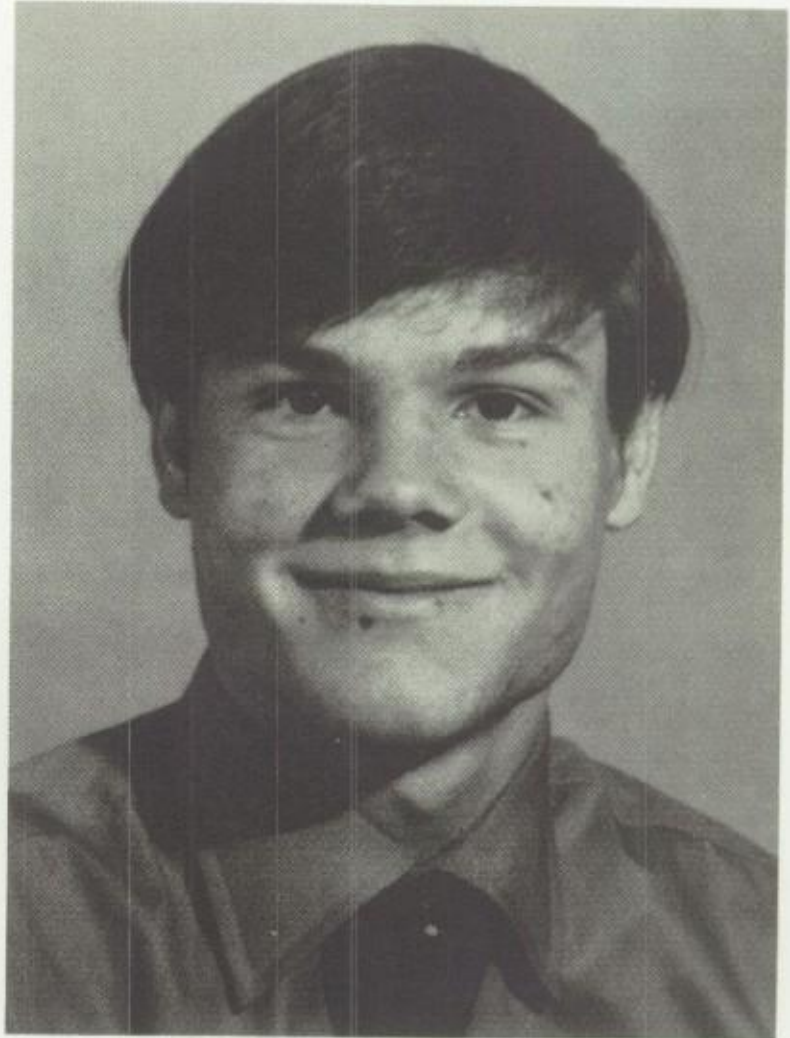

Warmly loved by his fellow students, Smitty was the generous and amiable ideal to whom we all looked for an encouraging smile. His mature straight-forwardness and unselfish integrity made him a leader whose influence on others uplifted character. Whatever Smitty did, he thought it was worth doing well. His honest and bright personality will shine on in the memories of all those who knew him, for memories are what life is made of.

Senior Introduction

During our three years at Reynolds, we've grown beards and sustained beliefs. We've won with joy; and we have lost with sorrow. We've fought bravely; and we've conceded nobly. We've innocently understood; and we've naively wondered. We have experienced, and we've anticipated. Now with eager apprehension, we look forward to a vast, pulsating world somewhere beyond these ivy walls and columned entrances.

Free lunch program started

While not as significant perhaps as the sophomore or senior years, the junior year was meaningful in several respects. It was the first year students became actively involved in Reynolds' many clubs and service organizations. Rising juniors elected to office last year assumed important roles in student government. Some juniors were inducted into the NHS. Free of senior pressures, juniors had the opportunity to give quiet thought to their future goals.

Junior Class Officers: Jimmy Binkley, Vice-President; Lisa Frazier, Treasurer; Dickey Hedrick, President; Melanie Pennell, Secretary.

New responsibilities accepted

Entering Reynolds High School for the first time last fall we as sophomores realized what a giant step we were taking — represented not only by added work but also by additional responsibilities.

Our year now ends and we look ahead to the time when we will be juniors with chances for induction into the National Honor Society, an additional study hall each week, and more prestige.

Sophomore Class officers: David Dalton, V. Pres.; Sue Georgoulas, Secretary; John Miller, Treasurer; Cindy Sharpe, President.

Sophomores Not Pictured: Harvey Bassolt, Karla Bjorling, Veotus Boston, Tommy Brannon, Wynne Brown, George Calhoun, Bobby Cindill, Vance Clark, Ralph Crockett, Bill Davey, Betty Davis, Debbie Douglas, Jerry Edmond, John Ferguson, Carrie Gainey, Samuel Graham, Windy Greene, John Greer, Chris Hanley, David Henrick, Greg Hutchinson, Vickie Isley, Fred Jackson, Terry Jackson, Vara Johnson, Karen Kates, Reginald Lash, Steve Lee, Gray Leonard, John Luckley, Alto Lynch, Thomas Lyttle, Willie Malloy, George Martin, Lee Miles, Bobby Miller, Marilyn Miller, Nancy Mintz, Nattie Morgan, John Neal, Scott O'Hara, William Perry, Susan Patteeson, James Powell, Bernard Roseboro, Lonnie Scales, Sheldon Shipp, Henry Simmon, Leelee Simpson, Leverne Singletary, Chip Solomon, John Sowers, Susan Spencer, Lynn Stephens, Wallace Ferrell, Charles Thomas, Altha Timmons, Teddy Tsiolkas, James Tucker, Ted Ulrich, Donna Wadsley, Arthur Walch, Monty Whitaker, Greg Wilds, Emanuel Williams, Lyndell Williams, Norman Williams, Kenneth Wilson.

Katherine,

WELL FIRST I CAN'T THINK TO SAY

WHAT I THINK YOU ARE A VERY FINE

PERSON. YOU ARE VERY ACTIVE IN

THE LIFE OF THE SCHOOL, STAY THAT WAY.

AND BE SACKING FOR SOMETHING TO DO.

SEE YOU AROUND,

Craig Strom

It's been some years in Spanish. Maybe you'll be in my Spanish II or III class.
Steve Sator

We explored our surroundings and discovered the talents which made us unique in the eyes of others. By looking realistically at our distorted images, we perceived a breakdown of our qualities, both good and bad. Willingly we accepted our weaknesses and sought to correct them. Our good qualities brought honor and respect, which led to self-confidence. Through the ability of perception, we realized our importance and success as distinguished seniors.

Annual proves 'big hassle'

standing in a field in late winter, trees like black etching against the red-orange sunset. no one there but a dog, everyone else in warmly-lighted homes, eating supper. watching a flock of birds wander across the sky, and thinking about the snowmen i made when i was a child, exhilarated with the cold, the smell of pine logs burning pungent in the biting air. and in more recent times your comforting warmth. golden hair and smiling. and walking across the field, the dog following close behind, the realization strikes me that i have become old.

"Kappy" ~

Always remember the convention. I know you will! (Billy Boxwood alias Beautiful Budding Billy) My wish for you for the coming year is to become sec. of the Library Club so you can do the pen things that I had to do.

Have a nice summer and write Billy a lot
~ Carol Crabtree

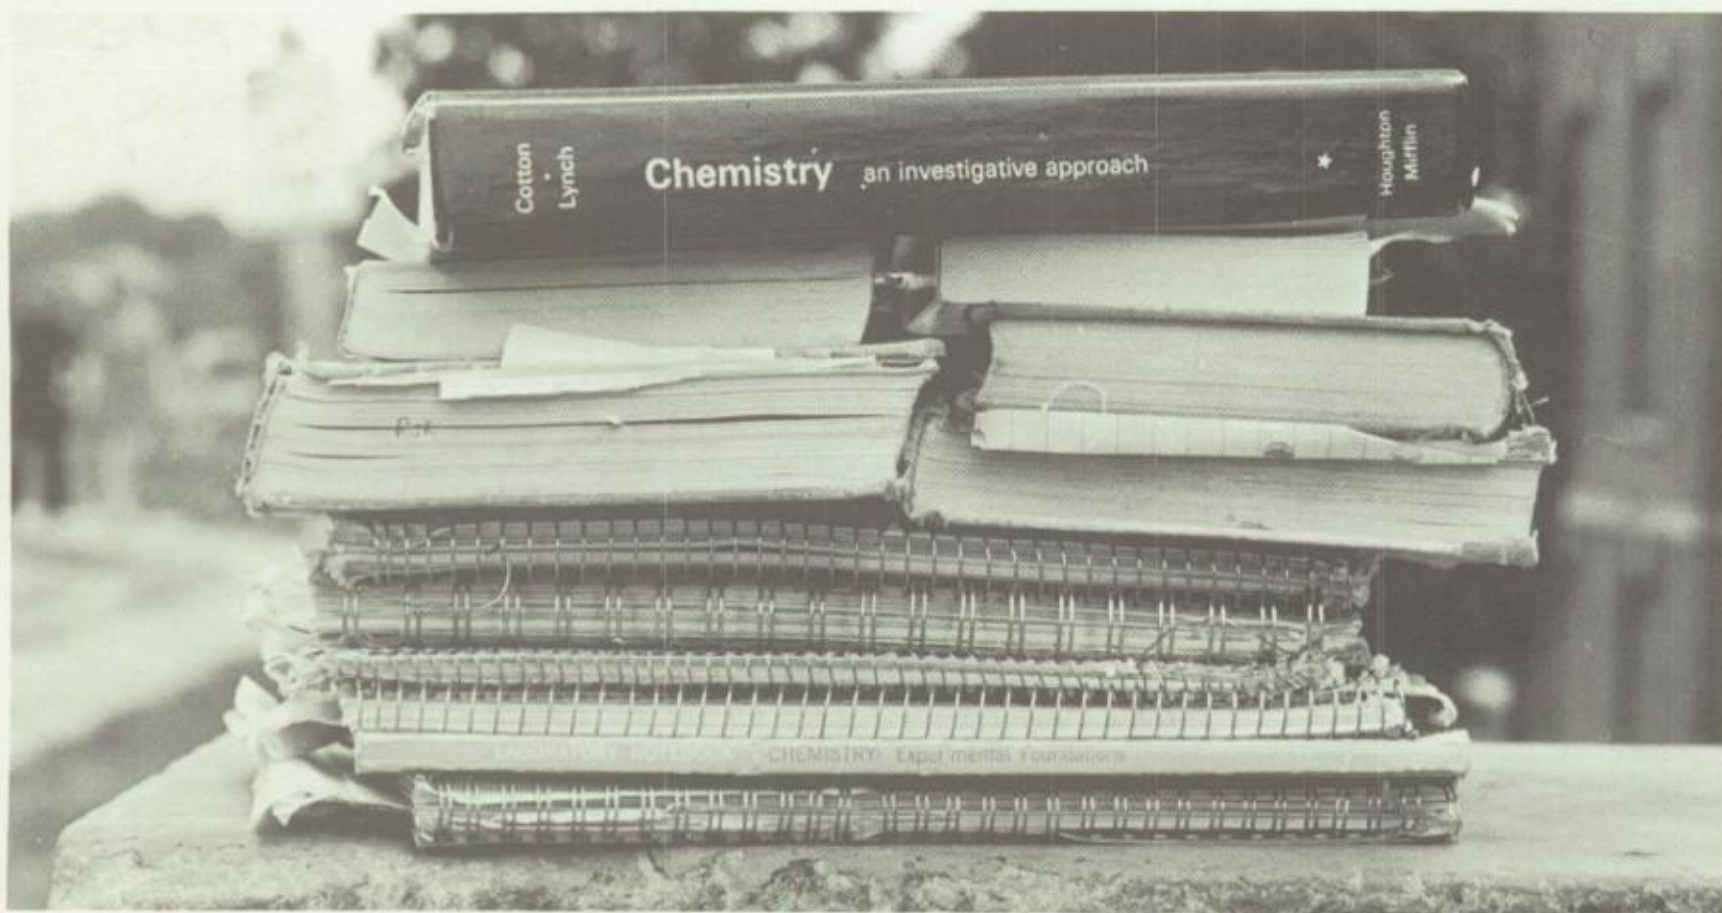

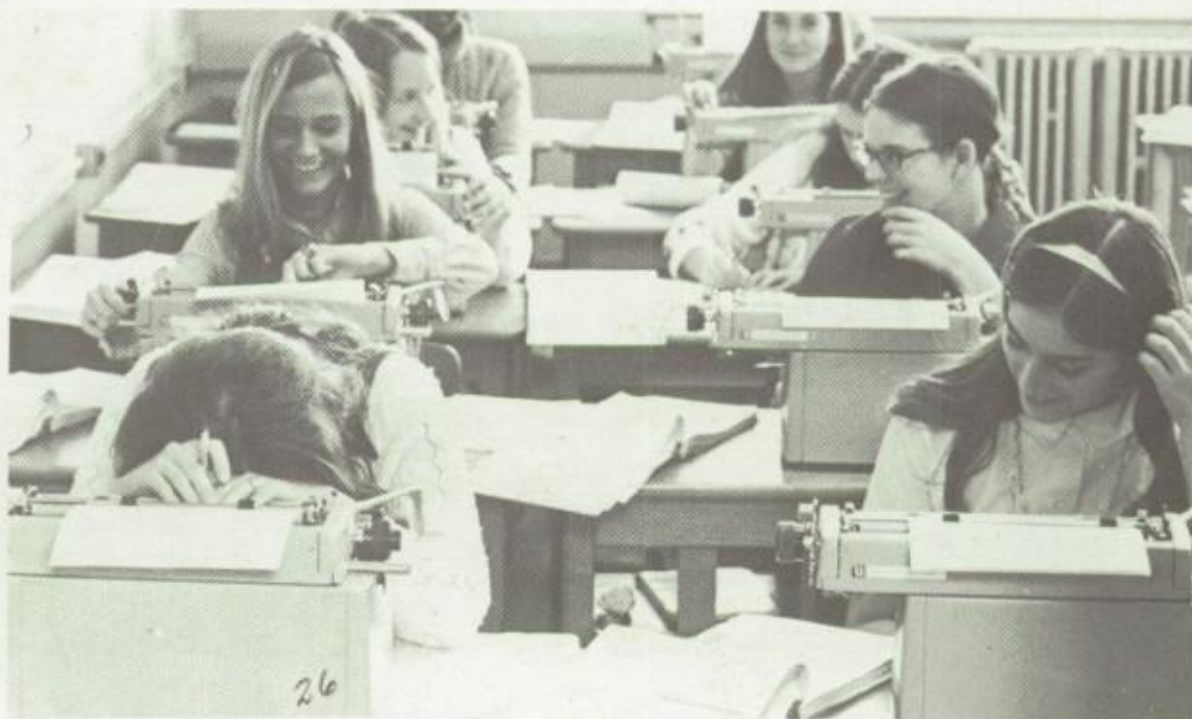

Katherine -
 It sure was fun meeting you at the picnic this year. Too bad we couldn't use the squirt guns! You would have really gotten a wet. Oh well the basketball game was fun! Have a nice summer.

Graduation has filled us with pride and exuberant joy, but our happiness is slightly dimmed as we realize that the time has come to say farewell to our many friends. Although we no longer will be following the same footsteps, the experiences gained with the people of Reynolds will remain with us in years to come. With a stronger perception of life's realities, we prepare to walk through her doors for the final time to travel a new and challenging road of life.

Burby

Kappy,
Even though I've just known you
for a single school year, I have enjoyed
it all. NCHSLA convention was really a blast!
Take care & always have fun. Keep your mother in line, etc.
your friend
Miller McNeely

Katherine,
Well we lived through
Gym, English History, Biology,
& Math (wheew!) Mrs. Garrison was a bitch, Mrs. Raulerson Mrs. Steelman weird, Mrs. Spencer shitty & Mrs. Brower fun. To get through all that is an accomplishment.
Do as well all the time.
Love, Emily

Katherine,

This has been a real exciting year !!! Oh, boy!
Math was perfectly horrible, history was boring, English ridiculous, etc. But the besides school activities were fun! Remember the picnic! I'll have you know that the shirt I'm wearing today is the one I wore at the picnic and when I got out of the lake after the third time, it was BROKEN Mom had a hard time getting the muck out! Have a fun summer + see ya next year!

Love,
Elizabeth, better
known as "Liz"

Katherine:

It has been an experience knowing you and having you in my Algebra II class. Good luck in the future in being a marine biologist. Have a nice summer!

Aileen Beresky

Katherine,
I haven't known you very long but it has been a pleasure anyway. We had a wild trip to Raleigh didn't we? Be good and keep you and your mother straight
this summer. See you
next year.

With Love
4

Katherine,
I have enjoyed our
brief time together in seats.
Hope to see you next year.
Love,
Ann Morgan

Katherine,

This year has been memorable - in more ways than one. Remember...

TEDDY BEAR (it was fun while it lasted!)...
ENGLISH (next year if we get Miss Kapp I will die... but nobody but nobody outvotes Julius Caesar, Socrates, and the Idyls of the King!!!) History (the term paper) and last but not least Biology (meiosis + mitosis)
I know we will have some classes (or we better anyway!) next year when we are big juniors. I don't think I will ever forget 728-6145 - that is your telephone number won't it? Have fun this summer and don't do anything I won't do...

Katherine,

Well, it's the last full week of school! urgent!!!! Together we've suffered through the agony of being uncoordinated slobs on the parallel bars & standing broad jumps. If we're in the same gym class next year, we can go through the same thing. Maybe next year we can suffer through biology tests
again. (or chemistry)
See you next year.
Cheryl

Katherine,
It's been so fun
struggling in Algebra 2.
Thanks for helping me and being a friend in need!
Have a fun summer
and see ya at church!

a friend always
(and church buddy),

Carol Kelman

See you next year... and we can sweat some more tests out together!

Good luck always!
